WOMANHOOD LEADS IN ADVANCEMENT AND ALWAYS WILL

History of Her Rise From Subsistence to Superiority to Man.

Guy Carleton Lee's Lecture This Afternoon.

ON "VICTORIOUS WOMANHOOD"

THE LECTURES.

Tonight at 8:30 — "When the People Wake."
Tomorrow at 2:30 — "Jefferson Davis."
Tomorrow night at 8:30 — "The Nation Triumphant."

"Victorious Womanhood" was the subject of Dr. Guy Carleton Lee's second lecture this afternoon at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church. With characteristic art, brilliancy of diction and command of his subject, Dr. Lee began: "The subject of woman is as many-sided as a diamond, and it is we are adequately to consider any one phase of it we must choose between the sides. This selection is by no means easy; but since it must be made, we will choose woman's influence in the world's advancement, and show, not only why she was the predominant influence of yesterday, but why she is today and always will be."

Dr. Lee first considered woman in the prehistoric ages, and said: "We may summarize the position of woman in her first stage of progress, by saying that she—save in isolated cases—was through the prehistoric world, a chattel, a toy, an animal, owned body and soul, by man, and the first step in woman's upward progress came only when she asserted her independence—its right to be. And it was through the Hebrew that it came—the first evangel of the human heart."

Women in the East.
The condition of women in the east (India, Assyria, Babylonia and Arabia) were considered; then the women of Greece and Rome were discussed, and the contributions made by them to the history of their sex were set forth with clearness and precision.

The next part of the lecture was occupied with the influence of the Germanic woman upon history, and the lecturer said: "The Germanic woman, for the first time, gave to the world the idea of woman's physical and moral equality with man. She made herself man's companion in the truest sense of the word. She became man's helpmate as well as the mother of his children. She gave man a home, not a harem. These things did the good women of the Teutonic lands, the mothers of the race that first settled this country."

The Modern Woman.
After a summary of the contributions made by the women of the ancient world to the progress of their sex, the lecturer swept through the history of the middle ages and came to modern times. He said: "With the advent of modern times came the full opportunity of women. To understand the use she has made of that opportunity we will make an analysis of woman's nature and of her position in the world today."

Next came the discussion of woman's position in the world of today: "The American woman, more than her sisters of any other nation, has come into her heritage of freedom. The nineteenth century saw the delivery of the negro. The twentieth century shall witness the complete emancipation of woman. But," continued the orator, "great as woman's achievement in the world of business, in it she has conclusively demonstrated her equality with man. But is it through public life that woman's highest ideal is to be won?"

The lecturer pointed out the tremendous results of woman's work in reform, but asked the question, "Is woman's highest mission that of the restraint or of the hustings?" and concluded his argument by saying: "Admitting then the adaptability and power of woman in business life and in the work of reform, we still assert that for the great mass of women destiny does not lie in the mart of trade, nor upon the platform. The mission of the average woman is to be a home-maker, as certainly as it is the mission of the average man to be a home provider and supporter. Yet, exulting the home as I do, I do not for one moment accept the view of those who cry, 'Woman's activity in business affairs is wrecking the home.' On the contrary I believe that it is the best home life. Grant-

First Visit of British Monarch to Capital of Germany in 200 Years Is Celebrated in Grand Fashion

Kaiser and King Exchange Kisses and Ride in Royal State to Palace.

They went in the royal state coach to the palace. On the way they were formally greeted by the mayor and aldermen. Edward briefly replied to an address of welcome. Loose Leaf Sales.
Sales at Hohmer's loose leaf warehouse this morning amounted to 80,000 pounds, which is next to the highest record for one day's sales. The prices were $4.10 to $5.65 a hundred pounds. Most all the local buyers were present and several buyers from Louisville and Cincinnati. There were no rejections at the sales this morning.

ling to women the privilege of earning their own living has resulted in more homes and happier ones. But while I rejoice in the strength and freedom that has given the power to support themselves to women, yet I earnestly contend that it is ill advised for a married woman to accept a business position, provided her husband can support her, even if ever so slightly. The lecturer took this position because he stands out against anything that is to the injury of the family—that tends to destroy the sweetness of home life.

He said: "Today it behooves every good woman and every good man to be on guard, for the American home is in danger." And he electrified his audience by the assertion that the danger most to be feared at this present hour was almost unknown to the good women of the land. With a force, clearness, and absolute fearlessness of speech, he piled fact on fact and argument on argument, until his conclusion, in which he said: "But I say to you—and I know that I speak for every clean and virile man, for every thinking man and woman, for every true student of history—I say, beware of those who decry marriage; for, even though they may not realize it, they are endangering the virtue of our women, the morality of the state, the integrity of the nation. Beware of those who sneer at the love of man—for they are attacking the greatest human power for righteousness. Shun those who would teach women a false idea of wifehood and motherhood, for these false prophets while pretending to strike shackles from women, are dealing her the blows of a poisoned weapon, whose virulence, eating its way like a loathsome cancer, into the heart of womanhood, shall in the end destroy the very foundation of the mighty structure of civilization."

The lecturer then proceeded to show not only the fallacy, but the wickedness of those who are attacking the American home and the American family. He demolished the position of those theorists who are attempting to tear down the position, which woman has won for herself, and he concluded his masterpiece of logic, illustration and beautiful thought, by saying: "Man today knows that underneath for good that has ever flowed calm and strong beneath all the fret and evil of the tempest tossed sea of human life, is the eternal spirit of woman's righteousness, the spirit of the woman of the home. Knowing this we may well say that through woman we shall come to realize the secret of abiding happiness, the key to the future of our race, for the heart-words of life are Love and Home and Obedience."

Country Life Message.

Among other things he says: "From all that has been done and learned three great general and immediate needs of country life stand out:—

"First, effective co-operation among farmers, to put them on a level with the organized interests with which they do business.

"Second, a new kind of schools in the country, which shall teach the children as much outdoors as indoors and perhaps more, so that they will prepare for country life, and not at present, mainly for life in town.

"Third, better means of communication, including good roads and a parcels post, which the country people are everywhere, and rightly, unanimous in demanding.

"To these may well be added better sanitation; for easily preventable diseases hold several million country people in the slavery of continuous ill health.

"The commission points out, and I concur in the conclusion, that the most important help that the government, whether national or state, can give is to show the people how to go about these tasks of organization, education and communication with the best and quickest results. This can be done by the collection and spread of information. One community can thus be informed of what other communities have done, and one country of what other countries have done. Such help by the people's government would lead to a comprehensive plan of organization, education, and communication, and make the farming country better to live in, for intellectual and social

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

Before any sore can heal, the cause which produces it must be removed. As long as the blood, from which our systems receive their necessary nourishment and strength, remains impure and contaminated with disease germs, any old sore on the body will remain open, and resist every effort made to heal it. The nerves and tissues of the flesh around the places are continually fed with unhealthy matter and nature is simply disposing of the poison by draining it from the system through the sore. The only cure for an old sore is a thorough cleansing of the blood, entirely ridding the system of the cause. S. S. S. heals old sores by removing every particle of impurity from the circulation. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and so completely cleanses the circulation that there is no longer any impurity to drain through the sore, but the place is once more nourished with rich, healthy blood. S. S. S. heals the sore from the bottom, the place soon fills with healthy, firm flesh, the tenderness leaves, all discharge ceases, the skin regains its natural color and when S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the blood the place is permanently healed. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

WHEAT PRICES FORCED HIGHER

Special Support Necessary to Maintain Values.

No Evidence of Scarcity and Other Countries Supplying Europe in Grain Market.

FAR ABOVE WORLD'S BASIS.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Evidence of a disposition on the part of large owners of wheat to force values to a higher level have been numerous throughout the last week. Prices were at no time in the week lower than on Monday last and it has been the evident plan to keep the strain on the May shorts as steadily as possible. Enough heaviness in the general situation developed toward the end of the week, however, to necessitate active support as it was found that the bulge was bringing in more selling than buying orders. This, along with the ordinary week-end and other realizing, made quite a pressure on the market.

No evidence of a broadening trade have accompanied the last week's advance in values, which was largest in the May delivery, where the big holdings are concentrated. On the other hand there has been distinctive evidence of an increase in the movement from the interior, the effect on the flour market has been dampening and outside markets have shown a tendency to drop away from the Chicago basis.

The one feature that has been kept prominently in the foreground is the big premiums over regular contract delivery grades that are being paid in all directions for red winter wheat. These premiums have not prevented a fair cash trade, but the total sales have not been large enough to stand out prominently over those of similar weeks at this season in other years, and they can hardly be called a true index of the cash wheat market. Hard winter wheat thus far has been ruling at about a full carrying charge difference below May delivery here, and it is gradually getting to a basis which will enable its being brought here at a profit from western and southwestern points.

Flour Trade Improves Slowly.

Improvement in the flour trade during the last week has been slight. In fact, many prominent factors in that trade have questioned if there has been any improvement, taking the trade as a whole. Larger northwest-ern millers appear to be in about the same position as the smaller mills of the spring wheat section, and have received no material stimulation to their business, because of the fact that increasing prices for red winter wheat have put the spring wheat millers on a much better relative trade basis than they have enjoyed in years.

In the flour trade, as in many other branches, the disposition of the buyer either from necessity or choice, has been to work on a hand-to-mouth basis at the current level of values. Many mills, however, as well as a number of larger handlers of cash grain, are carrying their stocks outright, making no hedging sales here, and are acting reasonably confident that current values are justified by conditions.

While many who are usually conservative and well reasoned in the trade hold strong views on wheat, others see how the rapidly diminishing export clearances will ultimately make a heavy situation in that respect will thus be gradually conserved beyond the normal rate. Primary receipts during the last week have shown a material gain. The total fell only about 400,000 bushels behind that of the corresponding week last year.

Export Clearances Are Small. Export clearances in the last week were 2,700,000 bushels less than those of a year ago and in the last two weeks have been easily 4,000,000 bushels behind last year's showing for the similar period. In the foreign

LIFE OF A PIMPLE.

Complexions Are Cleared and Pimples Disappear Overnight Without Trouble.

The dispensers of poslam, a new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is urged to purchase it without first obtaining an experimental package. Those who have tried it will find that the five-cent box, on sale at Gilbert's and all drug stores, is sufficient to cure the worst cases of eczema, where the surface affected is not too large. The itching ceases on the first application. It will also cure acne, tetter, blotches, scaly scalp, hives, barbers' and every other form of itch, including itching feet. Being flesh-colored and containing no grease the presence of poslam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and soap cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them.

As to the experimental package of poslam it can be had free of charge by mail of the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York. It alone is sufficient to clear the complexion overnight, and to rid the face of pimples in twenty-four hours.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM HERE

Tells People How to Get Relief at Small Cost.

Thousands of men and women who have felt the aching and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, persons, sex, color or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and settling about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary troubles: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.

field the showing is also growing heavier. Supplies on ocean passage, if Saturday's estimates are made good in today's official reports, have increased nearly 13,000,000 bushels in the last fortnight, against an increase of less than half that a year ago. European and abroad stocks are thus being brought up to last year's basis, while the increase in domestic supplies is at the same time not being correspondingly wiped out.

European and abroad stocks are now about 14,000,000 bushels less than last year, while American are about 6,000,000 bushels more in the United States alone and about 21,000,000 bushels more if Canada is included.

Foreign markets have shown no noteworthy disposition to become excited over prospective supplies. Nevertheless, values have hardened somewhat abroad. Liverpool values have advanced equal to 2 1/2¢ to 2 3/4¢ per bu. and at the close of business Saturday March wheat was equal to 1.13¢. May to $1.12 and July to $1.13. It will thus be seen that May wheat at Liverpool was but 1 1/4¢ higher than at Chicago. Antwerp advanced equal to 2c last week and closed at equal to $1.14 1/2¢ per bu. May wheat in Chicago gained 2 1/2¢ last week, July gained 1 1/2¢, September gained 1/2¢ and December 1/2¢.

Weather Checks Corn Marketing. Corn receipts here and elsewhere were somewhat checked last week as the result of the rough weather of the week before. Roads have been bad and the weather generally too mild for best handling through the entire week, but nevertheless there has lately been considerable increase in offerings from the interior.

A part of the Nebraska corn has been offered here, although the bulk has, as previously, been going in other directions, including by way of the gulf, for export. Corn handlers who supply the eastern trade estimate the consumption in that important section at not above 60 per cent of the normal of other years, due partly to high prices and partly to necessary retrenchment.

It has been fortunate from a price standpoint that marketing of corn at western centers have been light, otherwise accumulations would undoubtedly have resulted. At current prices for hogs the farmer can continue feeding at a good profit, but in the present state of the provision distributing trade the current rate of consumption is by no means certain that such a situation will long continue. The effect is likely to be a piling up of reserves on the farm if there is not soon some concession to the needs of the consumers of this surplus. Prices last week gained 1/4¢ to 1/2¢, a feature being the relatively better advance in May than in deferred months.

Trade in oats has been slow in all branches during the last week. Shipping sales are of small quantities and plainly indicate the effect of grudging purchases by consumers. The movement of oats from the interior is light, local stocks are small and prices are at a point when every cent of the import duty is required to keep foreign oats out. Even with this duty of 15c, however, Argentine oats have been brought to the extent of about 600,000 bushels in the last ten days for use principally in the eastern seaports and immediately adjacent. Prices of oats closed practically unchanged from those current a week before.

WANT CHANGE

IN SYSTEM OF PLANTERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

Leading Members in South Christian Revolt and Demand Loose Leaf Sale.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 9.—Thoroughly dissatisfied with the present business system of the Planters' Protective association and determined that an immediate change must be made if they remain in the organization, about seventy-five of the leading farmers of south Christian, including many of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens and largest land owners, met Saturday afternoon at the Longview school house and adopted measures looking to the betterment of conditions in the tobacco trade. The movement has been fermenting for some time, many members of the association being discontented with slow sales and the way affairs have been conducted by the officials, generally. The last straw was the recent reduction of the schedule of prices by which the 1931 tobacco on the Hopkinsville market was closed out.

At the Longview meeting R. L. Nichols, association committeeman, presided. Nearly every person present voiced his dissatisfaction, and a resolution was passed demanding that General Manager Ewing permit the 1931 crop to be sold loose through the association and that arrangements for prompt sales be made. It was set forth that Mr. Ewing had permitted others to sell in this manner and that the Lyon and Caldwell deals, together with the large sales on the loose floors, would tend to tie up tobacco indefinitely, if the slow process of pricing and the ordinary channels of association sales were enforced. The farmers made it plain that if this request was not granted they would withdraw from the organization.

George H. Cohan's "The Honey-mooners" opens at The Kentucky tonight for one performance. He gave the song play a snappy, exciting plot crowded with logical complications, he wrote brilliant, humorous dialogue, composed a score of song hits and worked out a dozen delightful dances for two score pretty girls. The action takes place in Tislerville, Vermont, and Cohan with kindly satire portrays the amusing life of a New England village and the results of city invasion. There are love, politics and rollicking farcicality in "The Honey-mooners" which is packed with Cohan good things.

"A Knight for a Day." "A Knight for a Day" will be produced at The Kentucky on Wednesday night. The principal roles are said to be in the hands of well known famous comic opera celebrities with the American beauty chorus.

CULTIVATING SLIMNESS. Fat women must take this injunction to heart if they want to be in style for the new modes will not drape over a fat figure.

The fat has got to come off quickly but without harm, of course, and this means only one thing can be depended upon. Exercising or dieting are too slow. The fat woman who wants to wear a form-fitting gown must make an immediate trip to her druggist and get a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, which will cost her about 75 cents. Taking one of these after each meal and at bedtime should be enough to bring her to the "losing-a-pound-a-day" stage before even the first case is used up. It is hardly believable that such delightful results can be obtained without harm and for such a small sum of money, but then, fact is stranger than fiction. Test the effect of these tablets by getting a case yourself, either from the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or from any druggist. They are made in exact accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription and, consequently, can not have any ill effects.

Finding all that money in the country after they got as far on their trip as Washington must have made the fiscal court junketers feel optimistic.

Governor Hadley, of Missouri, saw his own fire wood; and the politicians of Missouri know how well and how persistently he can saw wood.

King Edward gave Kaiser Wilhelm a great big hug and kiss today to cement the eternal friendship of England and Germany. What if Teddy had to kiss the Mikado that way?

"Phrenology as an aid to mothers" is being seriously discussed. Most mothers have done very well training their children with a slight knowledge of anatomy.

"When a widow tells a man he is 'different,' that's his cue to sit up and take notice."—Bowling Green Messenger.

That's right, Ed, break it to us gently.

The Illinois legislature voted for a United States senator today. In the words of Ethel Root, the suggestion of electing senators by popular vote, is an inference that the people are not capable of electing good men to the legislature.

If Senator Stephenson, of Wisconsin, didn't spend a quarter of a million dollars at the primary, he has a glorious opportunity to spend it on the legislature. Stephenson and Hopkins cannot understand why the legislature do not obey the will of the dear people. And how dear some of those people were, too!

Those Tennessee legislators daily are being informed that they were not elected to legislate for the people of Tennessee, but for the Democratic party, and the Democratic party just now is the gang that put Governor Patterson in office. The partisan never will be able to understand that public service is not always divisible into two classes: for the benefit of our party; for the benefit of the other party.

"Paducah people believe the state normal school worth enough to offer an admirable free site to the state. Let Owensboro make a move towards securing it. In one breath you decry the apparent decadence of the country, and in the next abuse the newspapers for publishing the Thaw trial. Did it ever occur to you, that if the newspapers hadn't dished up the Thaw trial with sufficient spice to hold popular interest, the country never would have become impressed with the growing social evil in time to check it? Ignorance may be bliss; but it doesn't cure a sore.

Senator Perkins thought to hinder Roosevelt by opposing the increased navy program, and to make himself square at home by supporting the anti-Jap movement. It required but a few pungent sentences for the president to show the people on the coast that Perkins was trying to stir up war with Japan, at the same time depicting the Pacific coast of adequate protection. Perkins is right unpopular at home now.

The modern long distance, wireless pioneer is a great improvement on the original, rawboned frontiersman of a day that is past. He follows Horace Greeley's advice so far as it fits his fancy. He goes west and buys up the country, but he doesn't necessarily grow up with it. He is an agricultural scientist, giving the virgin soil of the great southwest absent treatment for that unsettled feeling: We live in the age of wonders.

The experience of Indian teachers and agents, who are indicted for stealing the money and lands of their charges, impresses upon us the fact that office holding in the United States is still in an unsatisfactory state, as compared with the European system. Over there graft isn't classified as theft. It has been suffered to exist so long that it is considered among the perquisites of public office. When a man succeeds to office he succeeds to the pro rata of graft apportioned to it.

PLAIN MORALITY.

Isn't it strange that people know what is right, and know they do wrong, and yet become so blinded to the folly of their own course, that they do not recognize the inevitable evil consequences of their own wrong doing as their own handiwork? This is peculiarly true of the citizen, who sees the evil in our politics, and tries to efface it without removing the cause, which lies in his own heart. The trouble is we fail to apply simple ethical, elemental morals to the everyday problems of our government and business. While the whole country is groping for some complex system of reform, the great universities and publicists are teaching simple morality. That is what Dr. Guy Carleton Lee's lecture last night amounted to.

No one should stay away from the other two, because he thinks Dr. Lee will say something he knows already. Dr. Lee is talking about something we all ought to know. We understand ethics as applied to other people and other classes; but we are far-sighted on moral questions. It is more difficult to understand moral principles as they apply to ourselves. We can see in our relations to the government an element of self-sacrifice, which the other fellow apparently escapes. We excuse ourselves by conjecturing what the other fellows would do in our places. There does enter the element of sacrifice of the individual's interests for the welfare of the whole body, and it applies to the other fellow's case as much as to our own, only we do not understand his circumstances, and he does not know ours.

We must apply the moral code to our actions as citizens and business men. We must live by the golden rule. We must sacrifice our self-interest when the interest of the community is at stake. That is a lesson trades union men are learning without their organization. Bye and bye, let us hope, their attitude toward the union will be copied in their and all citizens' attitude toward the state and then we may hope for reform that follows automatically when all men do their duty.

SOME STORIES AROUND TOWN

A very interesting letter from Mr. Frank L. Scott will be appreciated by his many Paducah friends. Mr. Scott is manager for the Telephone company in Denver, and is meeting with great success. The letter follows:

"I find these people out here are very up to date, progressive and aggressive merchants. They are ready to adopt new ideas even more so than they are back east. I have never been in a city that I think is more beautiful than Denver. The stores are equal to the stores in St. Louis and Chicago, the streets are as clean as a floor, the lights are the most attractive I have ever seen, they have beautiful parks, magnificent residences, one of the finest auditoriums for conventions that I have ever seen anywhere and the amphitheater where they have their stock and horse shows is a perfect gem. I went out to the horse show one evening and it was a very creditable affair. The entries were of the finest stock that I have ever seen and their horses were simply superb as they had in one ring a lot of show horses of Denver, that is, these horses were race horses owned by Denver parties, and they were driven in this ring to show to the audience and were driven by the owners. Some of them had marks as low as 2:05 and 2:07 and were all renowned trotters and pacers. A very novel idea that they had here at the horse show; in the arena they used green sawdust and sitting in the seats at a distance of ten or fifteen feet it looked like a green grass award. There was absolutely no dust whatever. It was a very beautiful sight. "There isn't any getting around it, this is one of the most up to date and progressive cities I have ever seen. There is a great deal of wealth here to start with, and the mines surrounding Denver are constantly pouring their wealth into her lap. Leadville and Cripple Creek are very close by, and these two are the richest gold camps in the world.

"After telling of the beauties in the city here, half of which I have not described or given, one is struck with the magnificence of the mountains which practically surround the city. From my office window I have a view of about 150 miles of the Rocky mountain range. I can see Pike's Peak very plainly at a distance of 80 miles and to one who has been raised in the low lands like I have been, these mountains are very majestic and awe-inspiring, and I get a great deal of pleasure in constantly watching the different changes that take place at sunrise and sunset. There is a railroad that has recently been built from Denver to Steamboat Springs, a distance of 250 miles, which has passed through some of the most magnificent scenery in the world so I have been told. This road is building toward Salt Lake City, and as Salt Lake City is 750 miles from Denver by the other rail routes when the Moffatt road is completed the distance will be shortened about 200 miles. This road after leaving Denver enters the mountains a very short distance from here and when out about 40 or 50 miles you go through over 30 tunnels in less than 40 miles, this will give you some idea of how the mountains are being bored to shorten the distance. After going through these mountains the railroad gradually rises until it reaches a height which I am told is the highest standard gauge railroad in the world.

"It has been so cold since I have been out here and there is so much snow in the mountains that I have not had the temerity to make the trip out to see the scenery, but just as soon as the mountains clear up I am going to go out on the road to see the scenery for myself.

"There are many beautiful office buildings here, but there are five or six that are under construction now to be built within the next year that will be handsomer than any that are now here. Last year there were over $10,000,000 in building permits and the prospects at the present time for 1909 will be greater than for 1908, so you can see that everything is moving along pretty well here in Denver.

"I noticed in the paper the other day where there would be needed 15,000 more laborers to work on the railroads and the large irrigation plants that are being put through here by eastern capitalists. As soon as these irrigation projects reach completion there will be hundreds of thousands of acres placed under cultivation that will increase in value from $10 per acre to from $100 to $1,000 per acre.

"Now this may seem like a fairy tale, but if you could see the products of these small farms after the water is turned on to them you would readily understand why they would increase in value. Irish potatoes out here are as large as pumpkins; the beets that are raised are as large as balloons. There is the finest fruit raised here that I have ever seen, and it is very far superior to the California and the southern fruit on account of its firmness and rich flavor.

"What is going to make this country, however, is going to be its agriculture and it has the finest soil that I have ever seen anywhere. Alfalfa grows here as it does nowhere else, and they cut five and six cuttings a season.

"We all watch for the 'Sun' every day and if it is delayed there are three disappointed members of my family."

"THE STRENGTH OF THE PEOPLE"

Subject of First of Series of Three Lectures Last Night.

Guy Carleton Lee Delivers Next Two Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

SPEAKS ON SOCIAL UNREST

On the heads of the church people of this country rests the responsibility for all the bad officials, bad laws and political evils, declared Dr. Guy Carleton Lee, the lecturer, at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church last night. His subject, the first of his tripartite lecture, was "The Strength of the People," and true to his promise, he covered the truth, neither with sham, modesty nor polite exceptions.

He said in conclusion that what is commonly called "Christian citizenship," but which he prefers to call "right citizenship," will solve all the evils of our politics. He asserts that the same hardy moral fibre exists in the great majority of Americans today, that distinguished their forefathers; and that the social evil, so frequently exposed among the rich, is found among all classes, and his analysis of society at large in America convince his hearers of the possibility of the situation and their own responsibility.

First Duty of Man.

The first duty a man owes to God. That duty is to honor God. How can a man better honor God than by carrying his religion into his every-day life—living his religion? A church man must either vote for his God or vote against his God. Church men at every election go to the polls and vote against their God and know they are voting against their God when they do so.

In that impud order he summed up right citizenship, but it was the inevitable conclusion of convincing analysis and unwavering logic. Dr. Lee has a magnetic personality and a deep voice, flexible and expressive. His style of delivery and rhetoric are varied, and flashes of wit and stories run through his discourse, but always illuminating and never distracting.

Dr. Lee was introduced by Hon. E. W. Bagby. He began with the division of citizens into two general classes, optimists and pessimists. He exhorted the optimism, which carried the man over difficulties, but deplored the citizen, who can see nothing wrong with his country, state or town. He accomplished no good, and apparently enjoys the existing evil as well as the existing good. The pessimist, Dr. Lee said, is valuable because he is continually reminding us of dangers and the evils, which we might otherwise overlook. He serves his purpose.

Conservatives and radicals were the next classes considered. Dr. Lee said there is a class of conservatives that constitute nothing but an obstruction to progress. Whenever a city desires to open a street, construct a park or make any reform these conservatives object. They are the people who say, "What was good enough for our grandfathers is good enough for us." "They forget," said Dr. Lee, "that if the grandfathers had thought their condition good enough for them, we would not have the advantages we enjoy. The grandfathers, who were the radicals of their day, brought about the advancement."

A Good Platform.

There is another class, progressive conservatives, that constitute a sheet anchor in time of storm, when public feeling—an expression of united self-interest—rises above public opinion.

There are two classes of radicals. The anarchist, like the blind Samson, would tear down the structure of government and crush himself in the ruin. The intelligent radical has respect for conventions and existing institutions, knowing he must live under them until he can effect reform. Dr. Lee would perfect a political platform on which the intelligent radical and progressive conservatives could unite. He said every political party that ever came into power declared in favor of a "government of the people, for the people and by the people," and no political party ever kept its promise. He would enact laws that would give the people control over the men they elect to office; that would permit the people to nominate their own candidates; that would give the people authority to direct, amend and repeal laws.

He said partisan speakers and press and class dominated publications and speakers carry some other class. There is a clash between capital and labor, and no man can tell what will be the outcome. Those who denounce existing institutions meet with no support and never will, because they have nothing better to offer.

He said the solution of the problem is in the awakening of the average citizen to his own individual responsibility for conditions, and that awakening is taking place.

Incidentally he paid his respects to the reformer, who meets with no support, because he bases his reform on lies, or appeals to class prejudice, or who presents false statistics to prove his contention.

For more spirituality is the plea of Dr. Lee. His lecture tonight on "When the People Wake" will deal with social unrest. Tomorrow night he will speak on the "Nation Triumphant."

Wages and Cost of Living.

It took $3,625 last year to pay for the necessities of living that could be bought for $2,500 in 1897. Sixty-nine cents ten years ago had the buying power of a dollar of today. This is the way in which Prof. Joseph F. Johnson, of New York University, drives home the meaning of "increased cost of living." His two simple statements make it startlingly plain that there is no penny side to modern American prosperity.

Our Republican friends commonly point to the existing high scale of workmen's wages as evidence of the exceeding blessings of the country under Republican policies. It hardly need be pointed out that an advance of wages is of no advantage to a workman if everything that he buys has advanced in the same proportion. The true gauge of a laborer's power of his income, and even those workmen whose wages have not advanced are lucky if they can live now as well as they could ten years ago. With the professional classes and with clerks, salesmen and other middle-priced employees the sit-

The A B C and X Y Z of ADVERTISING

A SERIES OF TEN TALKS ON ADVERTISING written by Seymour Eaton of Philadelphia. No. 9

The man who succeeds must fill his job so full that he bulges out a little at the top; where people can see him. The successful store must do the same thing, only in a different way.

The goods must be on hand; the prices must be right; the service must be commendable; the trading must be square; the kind of square that has four equal sides and four right angles.

Every successful store has its trademark whether the merchant knows it or not. Its advertising and its service have created a public sentiment in its favor which neither reverses nor fire nor time can obliterate. Nine times out of ten this trademark is the store's biggest asset.

Much of the ordinary store advertising is a hand-to-mouth sort of business; an effort to make tomorrow's sales equal to today's or yesterday's; and this is just as true of the department store as of the smaller shop. The advertisement appears in the morning and the merchant figures out the net results in the evening. It is true that the bargain advertisement of today is of little, if any, use next week. It is forgotten in twenty-four hours; but if the store makes a feature of genuine bargains, then each bargain sale helps to advertise the bargain department. The advertising ought to be done in such a way as to permanently advertise the department as well as to emphasize the bargains of the day.

Don't go at it as if you were advertising an auction sale. As I said at the outset, your store is the seed in the soil; the advertising is the rain and the sunshine. Inexperienced advertisers dig up the seed every evening to see if it is growing; or pull up the young plant by the roots because it didn't bear fruit or flowers the first week.

It is safe to say that not more than one-third of the people are looking for bargains; the other two-thirds are looking for quality and style. The very fact that the goods are offered at bargain prices leaves the impression that there is something wrong with the quality or that the style is a season behind. Good advertising should enable a merchant to sell $20 coats at $25 instead of $25 coats at $12.50; in other words, it should create confidence rather than doubt. As in stocks and bonds, the securities quoted above par are always more desirable in the thought of the investing public than are those quoted at a discount.

Advertising is a tremendous force which in action contradicts all mechanical laws. The circumference and speed and working power increase, while the motor remains the same.

Make your advertising continuous. This is the first great secret of success. Copy and medium and circulation are all subordinate to keeping everlastingly at it.

nation is much less favorable. Lack of the unions to promote their interests, and having no organized class identity to enlist the attention of the stump orators and legislators, they have had no advance in income to keep abreast of the advance in prices. For the most part the position that paid $2,500 in 1897 pays the same salary now. The one evident financial difference that the decade has brought to the man who holds it is that the $2,500 of 1897 is only worth $1,795 today.

From the standpoint of the vast class which lies between the great capitalists of industry and those who labor for them, is there not something of mockery in prosperity? Just what is there in it for the bank clerk, say, who married ten years ago on $25 a week? Would not even the highest paid skilled workman prefer to be free to purchase his necessities in the cheapest market and take his chance on being able to exact a good living wage for his labor?—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Music of Telegraph.

Every one has put his ear to a telegraph pole to hear the wires hum, and most people have assumed that the sound was entirely responsible for the sound. So it is in many cases, but often the note is heard where not the slightest movement of the air is perceptible. A recent French investigator tells us that the sound in this case is due to the expansion and contraction of the wires from variations of temperature. As the wires are not perfectly uniform, they rub against the insulators, making a slight noise, which is amplified by the post acting as a sounding board. Another investigator is sure that the sounds are due to electric waves, but he fails to explain how ordinary telegraph wires should be able to serve as wave detector, and in what way the electric waves are transformed into sound waves. The other theory seems more probable.

Some curious stories are told in this telegraph wire music. In Siberia the hears think that it is the buzzing of bees, and would tear down the poles to look for honey if the constructors did not pile great stones about them to prevent this.

In France, on the south side of the forest of Fontainebleau, the telegraph sounds are regarded as presaging rain. This is because the south wind in this region brings rain, and the forest shuts off the north wind. In some districts the noise is popularly supposed to be due to the passage of messages, but it is hardly necessary to say that there is no evidence to support this view.

NEW LINCOLN STORY.

Unsuccessful Attempt Was Made On His Life at Baltimore.

Springfield, O., Feb. 9.—That an attempt was made upon President Lincoln's life in Baltimore as he was on his way to Washington to take office is told by Mrs. Coggerhall, widow of the Springfield man who saved the president from death.

All these years the story has remained a secret with Mrs. Coggerhall, to whom it was told by her husband in secrecy. Lincoln told no one of it, neither in his family nor his cabinet. It comes to light now merely because Mrs. Coggerhall believes its telling can do no harm and that it may be an interesting addition to the Lincoln literature of the month.

Her story is that a bomb was hurled into the coach occupied by Lincoln as it was standing in the station in Baltimore and that her husband first shoved Lincoln through the door of the car and then hurled the bomb through a window of the coach away from the crowd. Coggerhall, who was one of the war president's close friends, accompanied him from Columbus, O., to Washington. He was later sent by Lincoln as minister to Ecuador, where he died of yellow fever.

Woman's True Friend

Experimenting with new and untried medicines is foolish, and often dangerous. It would take a medicine more than forty years, to prove itself so universally good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. During all that time it has been woman's favorite medicine—a restorative tonic, uplifting and invigorating the nervous and discouraged and giving them the final touch of perfect health.

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines for it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs—is not anything like advertised, secret, or patent medicines—does not claim to be able to do impossible things.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in woman's ailments, and adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper.

You can't afford to allow yourself to be over-persuaded into accepting any secret nostrum as a substitute for this honest square-deal non-secret medicine. Don't do it. No honest druggist will attempt to cheat you in this way. He who does should be rebuked and avoided. Doctors prescribe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for their worst cases because they know what it contains and know its ingredients to be of the very best.

It's well now and then to gently cleanse out bowel germs that breed weakness, cause foul breath, loss of appetite, dizziness and headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep bowels sweet and clean. Recommended by druggists because of their purity, goodness, and active gentleness.

FLYING SQUADRON

DOCTORS AND POLICEMEN VACCINATE NEGROES.

Couples at Dance Called Out and Scratched—Saloons Visited.

A flying squadron of police, accompanied by a corps of vaccinators, has been visiting the haunts of negroes at night, and every negro that failed to show a good scar on his arm was vaccinated. This plan was evolved by Dr. H. P. Sights, city health officer, to prevent an epidemic of smallpox by vaccinating nearly all of the negroes in the city. Last night he was accompanied by Dr. J. W. Hase, Dr. P. H. Stewart, Deputy Sheriff Gus Rogers and Patrolmen Morris, Stewart, Clark and Gilliam and over a hundred arms were scratched by the little points.

After meeting last night the squadron went to the saloons on lower Kentucky avenue. Every exit was guarded and then the doctors entered. Negroes paused and set down half glasses of beer while sleeves were rolled up, and if no scar was exhibited the medicals got busy. Several became angry. But the presence of the big policemen served as a quietener. After all of the saloons and pool rooms had been visited and many negroes vaccinated, the flying squadron went to Seventh and Adams streets.

A big hall was in progress at the hall, but the doctors never paused.

and seeing that the exits were guarded, the merry couples slipped one dance and raised sleeves. Corners of the hall were used as hospitals and arms were scratched. The dancers took the visit in the best of good humor, and the dancing never stopped, as when beckoned to a couple would drop out of the dance and "sight" the doctors. The pool room below was visited and the points used freely.

Next on the schedule of the squadron was the saloons and pool rooms of the "900" section. The negroes were hemmed in and the work began. The first serious trouble was met from John Poto Baker, a big negro, who refused to doff his coat and show his arm. Reassurance failed and then Patrolmen Morris and Stewart hauled him to the police station for refusing to be vaccinated.

No count was kept of the number of arms scraped, but the medicals believe the number was over a hundred, and probably there will be as many sore arms by the last of this week.

Horse Flesh in Vienna.

Owing to the steady increase in the consumption of horseflesh in Vienna, the municipal authorities have erected new slaughter houses for horses. They comprise a fine block of brick buildings, covering an area of 3,300 square yards. Land and buildings together have cost over $200,000. There is stabling for 200 horses. The principal building is the great slaughter hall, more than 200 feet in length and 50 feet in width and equipped with the most modern machinery. There are stalls for killing 50 animals, each fitted with hoisting apparatus. There is also a large double life, with a capacity of 2,000 pounds, for conveying the meat to the cooling house. Last year 20,225 horses were slaughtered in Vienna for food. Most of it is converted into sausages of various brands and flavors.—Exchange.

BURLEY LEAF AT LOUISVILLE

Rules Stronger On Auction Breaks.

The Dark Grades Show Considerable Irregularity—Private Sales of New Burley Continue Large.

FIGURES FOR THE LAST WEEK

Louisville, Feb. 9.—The movement in the local leaf tobacco market showed very little change last week. There continued a good demand for burley and some grades ruled higher, while dark tobaccos were irregular to lower. All told 3,072 hogsheds were handled. Private sales continued large. They included 825 hogsheds of last year's burley crop, bought by the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse company for the American Tobacco company, and 507 hogsheds of the Kentucky tobacco sampled for delivery to the buyers of several weeks ago. In January receipts exceeded deliveries 1,261 hogsheds.

In the burley division of the market 1,319 hogsheds were offered by auction this week. In the way of quality the offerings were not up to the average of the preceding weeks, due to many dealers closing out their purchases. Colory tobacco was in fairly liberal supply, but was somewhat deficient in quality. All grades of colory, especially smokers and cutting types, drew active competition, and the latter types ended the week fully 1/2c higher. In the way of red burley low grades were the most sought for and brought firm prices. Common and medium red leaf met with a better demand and ended the week a shade higher. Good and fine red leaf showed no change. Old burley was offered very sparingly. It was of average quality, but in only fair condition. Common and medium grades ruled strong in sympathy with the corresponding grades of new, but good and fine leaf were somewhat neglected and at times sagged a trifle in price.

Auction sales of new dark aggregated 707 hogsheds, most of which was in poor condition. Air-cured and fired or export grades were of fair quality. Long rehandling leaf continued in strong demand and brought firm prices. Manufacturing leaf was somewhat neglected and showed an easier tendency in price and export leaf was slow of sale and ruled a few bids lower. All grades of lugs were off a trifle. Only a few hogsheds of old dark were offered and they were for the most part lugs and low leaf in very poor condition, and sold at lower prices.

During the week auction sales were 2,257 hogsheds, and private sales 1,135, the total of 3,392, comparing with 4,626 in the corresponding week of last year. 3,369 in 1907 and 5,209 in 1906. Since January 1 sales have totaled 21,020, against 23,395 last year, and 20,070 in 1907. Sales this week included 2,144 hogsheds new burley, 595 old burley, 779 new dark and 154 old dark. Rejections were 18 per cent of auction sales, against 12 per cent in the same week last year and 9 per cent in 1907. Receipts were 2,000 hogsheds, against 1,825 last year and 2,500 in 1907. Sales of the 1906 crop on the local breaks have been 30,588 hogsheds, against 29,660 of the 1907 crop to this date last year and 26,151 of the 1906 crop to this date in 1907.

If Constipated Test It Free

Every year intelligent people are dressing more lightly and paying more attention to their health. If a person eats what is sufficient for his bodily requirements he will give the blood plenty of strength to warm the remotest points of the body. It is, as you see, much more a question of blood than of heavy clothing, but the stomach and bowels, nevertheless, regulate the quality of the blood. Of first importance is the daily movement of the bowels, so that the waste matter may be carried from the system and not get in the blood. If a person has less than one movement of the bowels in each 24 hours, he or she is constipated. If constipated there is no better cure than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It cures so permanently and scientifically that eventually you will be able to do without medicine of any kind, and that in the point you are aiming at. You cannot expect permanent results from pills, powders, cathartic pills or purgative tablets. They are at best but temporary relief. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, being a laxative tonic, will cure the trouble and so tone the digestive organs that they will soon learn to do nature's work without assistance. That is the experience, among others, of Mrs. J. H. Johnson, of Kansas, Ill., and John M. Newkern, of Bennett, Ill. This wonderful herb laxative compound can be obtained of any druggist at 50 cents or $1 a bottle, frequently in itself sufficient for a cure. Thousands of reliable families keep it steadily for just such emergency. If, however, you have never yet used it and would like to try it before buying, send your name and address to the doctor and a free test bottle will be forwarded to your home. The results will speak louder than our words. Write today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 509 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

CAST ALUMINUM PLATE CO.

(Incorporated.)
Factory, 405 Fraternity Bldg., Paducah, Ky.

This company was organized for the purpose of making for the dentists in all parts of the United States, pure aluminum plate, cast for artificial teeth, an invention of Dr. E. Stamper, of this city. These plates have proven a great success among the dentists also. Dr. Stamper has been using them in his own practice for the past year with marked success. From these facts we are sending these cast aluminum plates to the dentists in the states of Alabama, Louisiana, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Vermont, Maine, California and others.

Now these plates being such a success with the dentists at large, we are going to add to our work the local trade—that of Paducah and vicinity.

We have not room here to tell of all the good features of these plates, and we have for our consulting dentist Dr. Stamper, the inventor of the new process, who will do all of our office work. Call at his office, 203-205 Fraternity building. Office hours 8 to 5:30 daily, Saturday nights 7 to 9. Both telephones.

For Highest Cash Market Price Bring Your TOBACCO

Bohmer's Warehouse
9th & Harrison. Paducah, Ky. Old Phone 72

Empty hogsheds furnished free to parties wishing to ship their tobacco by rail or river

Tobacco is unloaded in large, flat baskets, each grade to itself, weighed and receipt given owner, showing number of draft and pounds thereof. A corresponding ticket is placed on each pile. The highest bid is written on ticket and, should owner accept same, by presenting at office receipt previously given, the cash is handed over.

Should the bid offered not be satisfactory, the tobacco can be offered the next day or at any other time thereafter.

It costs absolutely nothing to offer your tobacco unless bid is accepted, in which case we charge 15 cents per hundred pounds and 2 cents on the dollar.

The greatest demand among manufacturers and dealers is for loose tobacco and, since it will bring more money offered loose, why go to the expense of having prized, stored, insured, inspected and looked after?

You will get more money for your tobacco when offered to the highest bidder in open competition with twenty-five buyers trying to buy than when you expect or require one buyer to buy millions of pounds without competition at a round price.

Home Course In Modern Agriculture

VIII.—Corn Growing

By C. V. GREGORY,
 Agricultural Division, Iowa State College

Copyright, 1920, by American Press Association

SINCE corn is the principal crop grown over so large a section of the United States it is important that we learn as much as possible regarding the best methods of producing it. The average yield of corn in the United States in 1907 was only 23.7 bushels per acre. Many of the best farmers are able to obtain an average yield of sixty to seventy bushels per acre year after year. There is no secret in their methods. They are simple enough to be applied to every farm in the corn belt. There is no reason why the average yield per acre should not be fifty bushels or more instead of less than half that, as at present.

In preparing to raise a maximum crop of corn there are two main factors to be considered—the soil and the seed. Of these two the first is probably the more important. We have already learned how the plant obtains food and water from the soil. The first step in preparing the soil for a corn crop, then, is to see that there is a plentiful supply of plant food in the soil. This can be done by using barnyard manure liberally and by following a consistent system of rotation that will equalize the demands made on the soil and keep up the supply of nitrogen and humus.

The next point is to see that the soil is in such condition that the roots will have little difficulty in branching out to secure the needed plant food and water. Thorough plowing, disk and harrowing will make the soil fine and mellow, so that the roots will have little trouble in obtaining all the plant food they can use, provided it is there at all.

The water supply can be regulated to a considerable extent by the drainage and by keeping the surface loose to check evaporation. The temperature of the soil is also an important factor in hastening germination and early growth. Irrigation, cultivation and the maintenance of a plentiful supply of humus will aid greatly in securing a warm seed bed by plowing time.

With a warm, well prepared soil containing sufficient quantities of plant food and water the next question that comes up is regarding the kind of seed to put into that soil. Almost any kind of seed will grow and produce a fair crop under favorable conditions. What we are after, however, is not a fair crop, but an extra good one.

The seed of different strains of corn varies greatly in its ability to produce yields. In the spring of 1905 the Iowa experiment station gathered seed from nearly a hundred different sources and planted it on the station grounds. Under conditions that were as nearly alike as it was possible to make them the yields from the different strains varied from thirty-one to eighty bushels per acre. This variation shows that a large share of the improvement in corn production must come through the breeding of high yielding strains.

It is not safe to ship in seed corn from a distance. Corn is very sensitive to changes in climate and soil. To obtain the best results the work of breeding must be done for each locality and to some extent for each farm.

A method of improving seed corn that will surely result in some improvement and one that has simplicity to recommend it is that of selecting a number of the best ears each year and planting them in a field by themselves or in one corner of the main field. By selecting the best ears from this breeding plot each year to plant next year's breeding plot and using the rest of the good ears to plant in the main field some improvement can be effected. The weak point in this plan, however, is that the yielding power of an ear cannot be told from its appearance. Neither is it possible to prevent inbreeding by such a method.

To avoid these difficulties the "individual ear" plot has been devised. This should preferably be at least forty rods from the nearest cornfield. Where this is impossible a strip along the south side of a field of the same variety may be used. As the prevailing July and August winds are from the south, very little pollen from the main field will blow over on the breeding plot.

Each row in the individual ear plot is to be planted with the kernels from a single ear. As any fair sized ear will plant a row forty rods long, this is a convenient length for the plot. Select from 50 to 100 of the best ears you can find among your seed corn and plant them in as many rows across the plot. The work can be done with a planter if care is taken to clean the seed boxes out thoroughly each time across. The cultivation given to the plot should be the same as that which the main field receives.

The time for special treatment comes when the tassels begin to appear. We have already learned that inbreeding is weakening and that cross fertilization develops strength and vitality. In order to prevent inbreeding in the individual ear plot the tassels on every alternate row should be pulled out as soon as they appear. In order that these may be removed before they shed any pollen it will be necessary to go over the field every other day for a week after the first tassels start. At the same time any tassels from weak, barren or spindling stalks in the other rows should be removed. In this way only pollen from healthy, vigorous stalks is allowed to mature. Thus the ears on the detached rows, being cross fertilized and having only strong, healthy male parents, have a much better chance of producing large yields when planted than would ears picked from the general field.

The most important point, however, is the selection of high yielding strains that is made possible by having the ears planted in individual rows. When harvesting time comes the produce of each row should be husked separately and weighed. It will be found that there is a great difference in yield. The highest yielding rows, provided the corn is of good quality, should furnish seed for next year's breeding plot. The rest of the good seed ears from the detached rows should be planted in a small field, known as the "multiplying plot." The best of the seed from this multiplying plot can be used to plant the general fields and for sale.

By continuing this breeding process from year to year a strain of corn may be built up that will far outyield the ordinary corn of the neighborhood. In addition to the increase in yield which will result on your own farm, a trade in seed corn may be built up that will add materially to the year's profits. There are many variations in the plan of breeding here outlined, but the essential point in all of them is to select the best yielding individual ears and to prevent cross pollination as much as possible.

After the seed corn has been picked it should be stored in such a manner that it will pass through the winter uninjured. The hints in regard to seed storage as given in article No. 6 should be followed.

Some time toward the close of winter the corn should be tested. For a preliminary test a hundred kernels may be taken from as many ears in different parts of the room. If the corn has exceptionally strong vitality the kernels may all germinate. In case some of the kernels fail to grow or any considerable number show weak sprouts each ear should be tested separately in order that the weak ones may be discarded. The method of making this test has been described so many times in agricultural papers and bulletins that it will be unnecessary to give it in detail here. It simply consists in placing several kernels from each ear in a corresponding square in the germinating box. In this way the vitality of each ear may be readily determined.

Shortly before planting time the ears should be shelled and run through a seed corn grader to take out the butt and tip kernels and divide the rest into even grades. The next step is to block up the planter and run through a sample of each grade, changing plates until a set is found that will drop the required number of kernels practically every time. If this is done and well tested seed used a good stand will almost certainly result.

Avoid too deep planting. All that is necessary is to have the seed well covered with moist soil. If this can be done without putting it down more than an inch or two, so much the better. Since the plant cannot begin to digest and use the plant food of the soil and air until it has unfolded its leaves it is plain that the less soil it has to push through before it can spread out its leaves and get to work the sooner it will commence to grow. Deep planted seeds often so nearly exhaust the plant food in the endosperm before they reach the surface that they are never able to develop into strong healthy plants.

After planting the aim should be to keep the soil in the same fine tilth it was in at planting time in order to provide large feeding ground for the roots and prevent the escape of capillary moisture.

POLICEMEN WILL ENFORCE ALL LAWS

Humane Society Enlists the Department.

Salaries of Firemen Will Be Increased If It Is Possible This Year.

CHIEF WOOD WANTS HIS ROSE.

All policemen will be required to take an active part in the work of the humane society in the future, according to the vote of the members of the fire and police commissioners, while in regular session last night. The board issued instructions to Chief of Police Collins to enforce the city ordinance against the use of old and decrepit horses. The action of the commissioners was unanimous.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Roy McKinney, Mrs. Cook Hurd and Mrs. Edmund Post, members of the humane society. Mrs. McKinney made a short talk to the commissioners in which she said the society had been organized in 1906, but owing to the financial stringency the dues had not been collected, and therefore no regular officer could be employed. She suggested that the police department fill the place, and the commissioners decided that was proper.

The problem of raising the salaries of the firemen from $50 to $75 a month was deferred until Dr. Frank Boyd and Col. H. R. Sutherland can investigate it. The commissioners were in favor of the increase, but the board did not feel inclined to vote out more money than had been allowed for salaries.

The city made an appropriation for the purchase of 4,000 feet of hose, and Chief James Wood last night asked the board that part of the hose be purchased at once. The new hose is needed by the department, while it will take the factory several months to prepare and ship the order. Also Mayor Smith was requested to purchase a pair of collars for the team to the truck at the No. 4 station.

Present at the meeting last night were: Dr. Frank Boyd, Mann Clark, H. R. Sutherland, John Bonds and Mayor Pro Tem Ed D. Hannan.

WHALE STOLE LINE.

Monster Also Made Away With a Good Harpoon.

Up among the torn bergs of the Arctic a monster whale is crushing about with a harpoon embedded in his thick back and something less than a mile of stout hempen rope trailing after him.

The crew of the steam whaler Thrasher, which returned Sunday night from an eight-months' cruise in the icy north, declare that "Alster Whale" got all that was coming to him.

"He got away from us," muttered the mate, splitting viciously into the scuppers, "but we will get him next season. It was a good rope we used, and he'll get tangled up on something so we will be one whale to the good when we get back there."

"He was a bad one, though. You see Silva, the boat steerer, slung the hook into him when we were in open water between two big bergs. Off he goes with the stick in his back, and the rope went out like a man tumbling from the loft. He dived and dived until one tub of rope was gone, and he did the same with another. He was making for the nearest floe and when he reached it he spit a lot of water into the air and took a deep dive. The edge of the ice cut the rope like a knife and he was off for good, with 2,000 feet of the Thrasher's line and a good harpoon with him.—San Francisco Chronicle.

TOBACCO NEWS

Hopkinsville Tobacco.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 9.—A big sale for the week is reported by the Planters' Protective association, all of the tobacco sold being of the 1907 crop. The sales aggregated 293 hogsheads at the recently reduced prices adopted by that organization. With the exception of Monday, when the thermometer registered zero, daily sales were held on the loose floor. About 250,000 pounds were sold during the week at prices ranging from $3.50 to $6.50 for lugs and $6.50 to $10.50 for leaf. These prices were very satisfactory, as is shown by the very few rejections. The report of sales by the Planters' Protective association on the ten markets of the Dark tobacco district for the past week, is as follows: Springfield, Tenn., 17; Cadiz, Ky., 36; Guthrie, Ky., 176; Hopkinsville, Ky., 418; Paducah, Ky., 209; Murray, Ky., 202; Clarksville, Tenn., 539; Rns-

Association Sales.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 9.—The latest report of Auditor Seales, of the Planters' Protective association, shows that the effect of reducing the prices on the 1907 crop of tobacco pledged to the organization has been to secure many purchasers, and only about 10,000 hogsheads of the old crop remain unsold in the big pool. On the Hopkinsville market the salesmen reports that all of the 1907 crop is sold, the last of the hogsheads being taken during the past week. The auditor's report for the entire "Black Patch" follows:

LIVESTOCK.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 9.—Cattle—

The receipts of cattle were 1,293 head—somewhat lighter than had been anticipated, as there was a very good attendance of buyers on the yards. The demand for desirable butcher cattle was active and prices were a shade better than the close of last week or pretty close up to last Monday, yet there was not as much of a wire edge to the trade. Medium and common butcher cattle were just about steady with the windup of the week. The feeder and stocker trade ruled about steady. Fairly good demand for the best grades. Medium, plain and common grades slow. Ball market steady. Cannons and cutters unchanged. Choice milk cows ready sale. Common dull. Not many heavy cattle on sale. That class about steady. The pens were well cleared this evening. We quote: Shipping steers $4.50 @ 5.75; best steers $3 @ 5.25; fat hogs and cows $3 @ 4.65; cutters $2 @ 3.90; cannons $1 @ 2; bulls, $2 @ 3.75; feeders $3 @ 4.75; stockers $2 @ 4.25; choice milk cows $3 @ 4.50; common to fair $1.50 @ 3.50.

Calves—Receipts 167. The market ruled firm. Bulk of the best 7 @ 7.40. Some extra good higher. Medium 4 @ 6; common 2 1/2 @ 4c.

Hogs—Receipts 4,398. There was a good local and shipping demand and prices were 10c higher on choice corn fed hogs. Selected 160 pounds and up, $6.70; 130 to 160 pounds, $6.20; pigs ranged from $4.85 for light pigs to $5.25 for heavy pigs; roughs $6.10 down.

Hogs from doubtful sections selling only under guarantee, 1c per pound off on all that kill soft or oily.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 335. The market ruled fully steady. Choice lambs selling around 6c. Some extra nice fat light lambs higher. Culls 3 @ 5c; fat sheep 4c down. Common, trashy sheep and lambs hard to sell.

St. Louis, Feb. 9.—Cattle—Receipts 3,500, including 500 Texans; steady; beef steers $3.50 @ 7.10; stockers and feeders $3.50 @ 5; cows and heifers, $3.25 @ 6.25; Texas steers, $3 @ 6.10; cows and heifers, $1.75 @ 4.25; calves in carloads $4.25 @ 8. Hogs—Receipts 13,000; market 5c to 10c lower; pigs and lights $4.90 @ 6.20; packers $6 @ 6.30; butchers and best heavy $6.05 @ 6.40. Sheep—Receipts 3,500; market 10c to 15c lower; natives $3.75 @ 5.50; lambs $4.50 @ 7.65.

MAY DINE WITH THE PRESIDENT

Gov. Willson to Join Roosevelt On Train.

Due to Arrive at Frankfort Thursday Evening—Negro Committee is Appointed.

GENERAL OBSERVANCE OF DAY

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 9.—Governor Willson and Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, expect to meet in Frankfort next Thursday evening on board the president's private car, which, according to advices from Washington, will be attached to the C. & O. train from the east, due to arrive here at 6:14 o'clock.

The governor said that he had not invited the president to take dinner with him on Thursday, as he would not be in Frankfort that day, but he expected to meet the president on the train that afternoon. There seems to be some doubt as to the route the president will take from Washington to Louisville, but a telegram from Washington has stated that he would leave Washington on the C. & O. train, which would put him in Frankfort at 6:14 o'clock Thursday evening.

A Lexington newspaper printed a telegram from Secretary Loeb stating that the president would not be in Lexington, but it is believed here that this was done to prevent any delegation waiting on the president at the train, and it is probable that the president will not announce his route, as he is in a hurry this time and has no time for speechnaking, as would be the order of the day if the towns through which his train will pass are known in advance.

Appoints Negro Committee.
Governor Willson appointed a committee of representative negroes of the state to act with the other committee in charge of the Lincoln memorial program. In making the appointment Governor Willson gave out the following:

"The governor appoints a committee of the negro people for the Lincoln centenary at the Lincoln farm, February 12, 1909.

"There is very great appropriateness in the suggestion of the appointment of a committee of representative negroes for the Lincoln centenary. Abraham Lincoln is revered by the negro people as the great emancipator, and one cannot think of anything more fitting than that they should be a part of the impressive scene of the laying of the cornerstone of the Lincoln Memorial hall, nor was this a matter not thought of by the governor in appointing the original Lincoln centenary committee for Kentucky.

"The Lincoln Farm association, in the original letter asking the governor to appoint the committee, followed the course pursued in all the other states of appointing a committee, formally, not as a part of the organization, nor to take part in the ceremonies, but simply to give the authority of the state name to the letters written to ask contributions to the undertaking, and this did not require the appointment of representatives of the negro people.

Negroes to Be Represented.

"But when it was seen that the day would bring many visitors to Kentucky and that Kentucky would be held responsible if there was no provision for the shelter or transportation of the visitors, the Kentucky committee saw that it would not do to act simply as indorseers of the letter asking contributions, but that they must take, at least, enough part in the occasion to guard against hardships to the people who visited Kentucky for this purpose, and this was at once appreciated by the managers of the association, and both committees have been acting together ever since, and now the Kentucky committee is to have an important part in the ceremonies to represent Kentucky at the dedication, and therefore it has become not only proper, but a thing which it would be a reproach to fail in, that the negro people should have honored representatives present to bear witness to their love for Abraham Lincoln and their faithfulness to his memory and to be a part of that great scene just as they are a part of the great life of our country.

In Memory of Lincoln.
"In memory of Abraham Lincoln, and to bring before us all the ideal of the pleased humanity which freed a race and which is such a noble part of the life of Abraham Lincoln, I do appoint as members of the negro people's centenary committee the following representative men of their race:

"George W. Gentry, Stanford; the Rev. P. H. Kennedy, Henderson; the Rev. C. H. Parrish, Louisville; Dr. E. E. Underwood, Frankfort; Jordan Jackson, Lexington; J. D. McGowan, Mt. Sterling; Albert S.
